Decree in Chancery.

By virtue of a decree of the superior court of chancery for the Richmond district, pronounced on an appeal, wherein Sarah Chapman, widow of Carr Chapman, deceased, and Susanna Chapman, an infant daughter of the said Carr Chapman, by the said Sarah Chapman, her guardian, were appellants; and Thompson and Veitch were appellees, I shall, on the first Monday in April next, before the court house of Prince William county, sell to the highest bidder, for ready money, or on a credit of 6, 12 & 18 months,

A Tract of Land,

IN the same county, which was granted to Thomas Chapman by deeds of lease and release from William Tebb's for 69 1/2 acres, bearing date the 17th and 18th days of June, 1774.

Also, one other tract of Land, in the same county, which was conveyed to the said Thomas Chapman by deeds of lease and release from Bertrand Ewell and his wife, and Jesse Ewell and his wife, for 30 acres, more or less, bearing date the 9th and 10th days of April, 1775.

Also, one tract or parcel of Land, which was conveyed to the said Chapman by deeds of lease and release from Jesse Ewell and his wife, and Bertrand Ewell and his wife, for 150 acres, more or less, bearing date the 2d and 3d days of January, 1784, all of which deeds are now of record in the county court of Prince William. And also, all the other estate, right, title, claim and possession which Carr Chapman, on the 20th November, 1797, had of and in to the land and real estate whereof his father or any of his ancestors had died, seized or possessed.
The above description is taken from the mortgage deed executed by Carr Chapman to Thompson & Veitch on the 20th November, 1797, and now recorded in Prince William court, under which the property is sold. It is understood that the three tracts of land have been united into one which adjoins the town of Dumfries. On it there is a dwelling house & some wood. The general rights described will, as it is believed, comprehend a fourth part of the reversion of all the dower land of Susanna Gwinett, and one fourth part of the reversion of all the land devised by Thomas Chapman to Elizabeth Overall, after the death of the said Susanna and the said Elizabeth.
Bond and approved security will be required.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

- The Speaker laid before the house a letter from the secretary of the treasury, accompanying a statement of the receipts and expenditures of the government for the year 1886, proposed in pursuance of the law of 1793. R-referred to the committee of ways and means.

Referred to the standing committee on the affairs of the district of Columbia.

Mr. J. Clay presented the petition of of Philadelphia, stating that he had at great expence, created a chemical laboratory, for the manufacture of Oil of Vitriol, Marine Acid, &c. &c. not heretofore manufactured in this country. He prays that duties may be imposed on those articles when imported. Referred to the committee of commerce and manufactures.

Mr. Quincy rose for the purpose of offering a resolution, and would avail himself of that practice of the house, to assign some reasons which he hoped would induce gentlemen to consider and adopt it.

When he viewed two great nations of the world, whose power so cruelly interfered with our rights, he could not but be anxious to know in what situation we stood with those powers. He stated it not as a charge against the executive; but with respect to one of those powers, Great Britain, much was known; with respect to the other of those powers, France, scarce any thing was known—All parts of the controversy with Great Britain had been spread before them—if they had not been spread before the nation they had before the house—not only the points of controversy, but the correspondence between our government and the American minister at London, and between the minister and the British government. But with respect to the other power our relations were entirely unknown. His resolution was therefore exclusively directed to that one object.

He begged the house to go as far back with him as the first session of the ninth congress. At that time our foreign relations began to change—they began to wear a war aspect. In the communication of the president at the opening of that session, he stated our relations with Great Britain and proceeded to the speculation of certain infractions of our neutral rights on the part of that power. He stated our relations with Spain, and specified certain irregularities on her part; but there was not a single word in all the message on the subject of our relations with France. He could not but mention this as a characteristic fact—the same omission had been made every session since. He did not state it as a charge against the president but he stated it as a fact, and as an argument in favor of the resolution which he meant to offer. If they went a little further on in the session they would find that there did exist some differences between us and France. On the 10th of January in consequence of a call for information by the senate when the St. Domingo bill was un-

He would now proceed to a second period of executive communication, and examine the message at the last session. It was found to bear the same characteristic mark. They were there told that hopes were entertained of a favorable issue to our differences with England—that Spain had violated our territory; but not a word was said on the subject of our relations with France. Had it not been that her name incidentally occurred in mentioning our relations with Spain, they would not have known from those two communications, that such a nation as France existed, though the Barbary powers and our Indian neighbors make a conspicuous figure in both.

[Mr. Quincey here read the answer of the minister of marine and of colonies to general Armstrong.]

Whether this was sufficient or not, the house must determine. So much for public information.

The letter of the 12th of Nov. was also relative to a decision of the tribunal of prizes in a particular case, under the decree of November. In this letter genl. Armstrong referred to a letter of the 7th of October, which Champagne had addressed to him, and from a quotation made from that letter, it was evident that an explanation had been given, by the minister of exterior relations, of the intentions of that government towards us. Here was an important fact developed. That those important documents did exist, was a kind of moral certainty. If it then was a fact that no after regulations had taken place, still the resolution ought to carry, for if general Arm-

He had confined the resolution to our intercourse with France, because there was the greatest want of information on the subject. It was the duty of the house to possess themselves of the regulations of the great foreign powers affecting our commerce. What reason was there for not asking for documents? Were they not important? Were they to go to war, and with whom? The modification of our military force would depend much on the power with which we were to go to war, if at all. It was surely important then to know in what situation we stood with those powers.— He knew of but one reason against the adoption of the resolution which he was about to offer, and that had been frequently urged— it was confidence in the executive. There ought, he said, to be a proper, constitutional confidence reposed in the executive, nor did he think this call inconsistent with that confidence. But it was farther said it was the constitutional duty of the president to communicate information to congress, and the call would be expressive of an opinion that he had neglected his duty. He did not so consider it. But it was no time for the house to be prevented by refined scruples of delicacy, from obtaining all the information within their reach, of the dispositions of foreign governments, and it was at this time peculiarly important to know the disposition of that government towards us.

Resolved, That the president of the United States be requested to communicate to the house the dispatches addressed by the American minister at Paris, touching the proceedings of the French government in relation to neutral commerce, which have been received since the dispatches of that minister which were communicated to congress by message on the 19th Feb. 1807.

Mr. Gardner called for the order of the day on the bill further to prolong the continuance of the mint at Philadelphia.

Mr. W. Alston observed, that the bill could be passed in less time than the gentleman had taken to support his motion.

on the bill, Mr. Cutts in the chair. There was some doubt whether the former act on this subject had expired the fourth inst or continued in force until the fourth of next March. The difficulty arose in this way,—

The former law provided that the mint should continue at Philadelphia "for the term of five years from the fourth of March next." The law was approved by the president on the 5d of March, 1803, and the question now is, whether the term of five years is to be computed from the next fourth of March, which would be the day after it was signed, or the fourth of the next March, which would bring the commencement of the term to March, 1804. In order to have time to settle this moot point of legal criticism, as difficult as the case of the black and white horses, it was moved that the committee should rise. After some debate, in which much philological learning, critical acumen, and logical acuteness were evinced, the motion to rise was lost. Some amendments having been made, they, with the bill, were reported to the house, and concurred in. The bill was ordered to a third reading to-morrow. It provides for the continuance of the mint at Philadelphia for five years from the fourth of March next.

The house took up the consideration of the report of the military committee on the bill for augmenting the military force. Mr. Rowan moved to commit it to a committee of the whole, which prevailed. It was made the order for to-morrow. Adjourned.

GLOUCESTER, March 6.

Yesterday arrived here. brig Active, Foster, 18 days from Guadaloupe; and Evelina, Pycross, 26 days from St. Croix, West-Indy. Captain T. reports, that the planters were much alarmed at the news of our embargo; that markets rose very much, and that a vessel blown off the coast, from Philadelphia, arrived there with 1000 barrels of flour, which was sold for 20 dollars per barrel; and that he did not believe there was one month's provisions in the island; that the French privateers take all American vessels they meet with, from English ports, and condemn them, and have carried a number into Porto Rico; and that the captains of the English frigates at St. Croix offered to convoy all American vessels as far as lat. 25, but in general they came out singly, and took their chance.

Last evening arrived at this port on the ship Amiable Matilda, Hillard, in 42 days from Gibraltar; and capt. H. has politely favored the editor of the Mercantile Advertiser with a file of Gibraltar papers to the last of January, and the following valuable list of vessels laying in that harbor at the time of his departure.

Positive information has been received, that the combined French and Spanish squadrons were lying at anchor in Cadiz Bay, apparently watching a favorable opportunity to effect their escape.

Captain Hillard sailed in company with ship Hare, Barry, of New York, for Falmouth, with her outward cargo, having been turned off from Lisbon; ship Washington, Stanton, of New London for New York, detained on his passage from Valentin, but released; ship Amsterdam Packet, Williams, of and for Philadelphia, with her outward cargo, having been turned off from Marseilles; ship Irish, Convey, of and for Salem, in ballast, from Algeiras; brig Mary, Crofts, of New York, from Marseilles, for New Orleans, put in for convey through the Gut; brig Susan and Betsy, Vanduy, of New York, from Barcelona, for New Orleans, put in for convey thro' the Gut; schr. John and William, Hedge, of and for Boston, who unfortunately got drifted near the Spanish shore, and was taken possession of by the batteries and gun boats and carried for Algeiras. Captain Hedge, however, finding it impossible to escape with the vessel, abandoned her and took the boat, with all his crew, and the amount of his outward cargo, which was on board in specie, and got safe on board an English man of war brig; schooner name and destination not known.

Left ship Rachel, Josephs, of and for Salem, first convoy; ship Commerce, Drew, of and for Baltimore, first convoy; ship Wells, Lamson, of Salem, for Palermo, put in in consequence of the late orders and decrees, destination uncertain; ship Calpe, Moore, of and for Alexandria, first convoy; ship Maria Theresa, Peacock, of and from New York, turned off from Lisbon, and proceed to England first convoy; ship Erati, Burnett, of and from New York, for Palermo, but expects to

to return direct to New York, or proceed for England; ship Anne, Davis, of and from Boston, for Smyrna, but detained, labelled & expected will be condemned; ship Hero, Barnard, of and from New York, for Leghorn, but turned off and expected to return direct for New York, or proceed for England; ship William Gray, Tate, of and from Salem for Leghorn, turned off and expected to sail direct for Salem, or proceed to England; brig Paulina, Swaizey, of Boston, for Liverpool, first convoy; brig Echo, Forman, of Boston, put in in distress, and condemned as unfit for sea; brig Sophia, Arundell, of and from Philadelphia for Algiers, but in consequence of existing decrees put into Gibraltar; brig Nephtune, —, of and from Baltimore, from Leghorn, deserted by her crew off Carthage, taken possession of by the Revenue frigate and sent into Gibraltar, the captain and crew had arrived in Gibraltar before the Amiable Matilda sailed, and expected to get the vessel again by paying a high salvage; brig Harriot, Leach, of and from Salem, for Leghorn, turned off and sails for Salem first convoy; brig Rattlesnake, Brecky, of and from Boston for Leghorn, put in in distress; brig Delight, Gray, of and from Providence, for Cadix, turned off, discharged in Gibraltar, and sails for Providence first convoy; brig Mary, Davis, from Boston for Barcelona, but sails for Boston or England first; brig Venus, Allen, of Dartmouth, from New York for Leghorn, turned off and sails for England first convoy; brig Quanticook, Hudson, of New York, from Nantes for Lisbon, detained, labelled and awaiting trial; brig Industry, Hitchcock, of and from New York for Barcelona, taken and condemned, vessel and cargo, for passing Gibraltar without stopping after being warned, although proceeding for Malta; brig Tyger, Farley, of and from Baltimore, time of sailing uncertain; brig Benjamin and Nancy, Mayes, of Newburyport, from Alicante for London, first convoy; brig Calisto, Tyler, of and from Boston for St. Lucar, detained, labelled and waiting trial; brig Argus, Hollowell, of and from Providence for Leghorn, but returns direct for Providence; brig Augusta, Noble, of and from Salem, destination and time of sailing uncertain; schooner Palladium, Weld, for Boston, uncertain; schooner Atlanta, Smith, of Duxbury, from London, for Alicante, but stranded and lost on the Banks of Gibraltar, on the first of January; left several other Americans names not recollected.

About the 25th January the governor of Gibraltar had declined granting permission for vessels with colonial produce, bound up the Mediterranean, to proceed on their voyages, although having stopped at Gibraltar, in consequence of having been warned, or even to grant permission to those vessels to return to America without first going to England to pay a duty on their cargoes. Frequent petitions had been made by the masters and supercargoes of vessels then in Gibraltar for clearances, without effect; and it was generally feared that he would not clear any vessels with colonial produce for any other place.

except England, from what might have touched at Gibraltar, were fortunate enough to get to America previous to the war to that determination. The 24 large troops, being part of 62 sail company, on a private expedition were received in Gibraltar the other 38 sail had put back as much feared that they were by a French ship which had lately sailed. In Gibraltar the condition is expected to be to Centa. on the 27th J

From the 8th to the 10th, the British gun-boats carried into the bay a number of American vessels, most of which were taken in, under the French flag. None were condemned. Several had been taken in on the 8th, but it was expected all would be taken in, the batteries very fire ready; the arrival of a private frigate on the arrival of a private frigate do except very sure of a private frigate.

Captain Avery, of the ship "Herald," who arrived at the mouth of the bay on the 10th, informs, that he was boarded by the French frigate "Eurydice," on the 10th, in lat. 36. 90, in company with five line of battle ships, and six sail of French ships of war, on the 10th, in lat. 36. 90, sailing North by West.

Mount-Washington for Sale.

I will sell my FARM in Fairfax county, and give immediate possession. It is less than three miles from Alexandria, and six from the George-Town ferry—the distance from the projected bridge will be less—the house stands on an elevated hill, and overlooks the City, Alexandria, the river, with the shore, and hills of Maryland. The house which I erected, and is nearly finished, consists of a center house two stories high, and wings of one, joined to it, by circular corridors, the north wing contains 2 small rooms, the front of it, and the corridor adjoining, intended for a green house, this leads to a drawing room—a dining room separated from it by the passage and stair-case, is next to the south corridor which contains 3 closets, and leads to the kitchen—two small rooms in this wing with the kitchen—a pump of excellent water at the door. The second story of the center house contains 3 chambers and a dressing room, with fire places—a large closet adjoins the dining room—one of the same size opens on the stair case, both fitted up with shelves—a store room in the garret, and cupolo on the house top, from whence is seen a delightful, variegated landscape, completes the description of the mansion house. A neat cottage accommodates laborers, and there are stables, a carriage house, and ice house; the farm contains 103 acres, 70 enclosed and cultivated, the rest in wood; this place boasts the finest collection of fruit that I have seen, besides every other sort; the list given to me was 300 apples, 800 peaches, and 300 cherry trees: I have added several hundred of the best kinds.—The garden consists of 12 large squares, the soil enriched and borders filled with fruit trees, and bushes; it is surrounded by a live cedar hedge, which also extends on each side of the house: the former proprietor possessed much taste, and collected many ornamental trees and shrubs, which are judiciously disposed about the grounds. The soil is suitable for grass, and the portion of ground devoted to timothy and clover, yield an abundant crop; it produced good wheat and oats last year, and I think with small expense may be rendered productive. Those who wish a residence, where health will be preserved, and convenience of intercourse with Alexandria, George-Town, and the seat of government, will find all combined in Mount-Washington. I will shew the premises and impart the terms of sale, upon applications by letters directed to the Post-Office, Alexandria.

GREAT BARGAIN.

INTENDING to remove to the state of Tennessee as soon as possible, I wish to dispose of the following valuable and increasing property upon low terms, which property I inherited from my ancestors, who have had a legal title to the same for upwards of one hundred years.

One tract well known by the name of Abingdon, being on the Potomac river between Alexandria and George Town, and nearly opposite the city of Washington, exactly situated, containing about Four Hundred acres, now leased to the Mr. Wises for three hundred and sixty dollars per annum with other stipulations contained in the lease.

One other tract contiguous to the first, leased to William Fraser for forty dollars per annum, containing about sixty acres.

One other tract containing ten acres of bottom land, adjoining the Four Mile Mill tract.

One other tract contiguous to the Abingdon estate, and within two and a half miles of George-Town, containing 725 acres.
The greatest part of this land is heavily covered with red and white Oak.

A L S O,

Three thousand acres on the Scioto River, in the state of Ohio.

This tract descended to me from my uncle George D. Alexander, being one moiety of the land he was entitled to for his military services during the revolutionary war. All the title papers with the wills under which I am entitled to the above property, are in the hands of BALDWIN DABZ, Esq. to whom application will please to be made for terms &c. he being legally authorised to contract and dispose of all the above valuable property, for which good and satisfactory titles will be given.

Walter S. Alexander.

THE subscriber offers to rent for one or more years, adjoining the place where on he now lives, a Blacksmith's shop, with a complete set of Tools, a Dwelling house in a comfortable condition, calculated for a family, together with between three and four acres of very rich land.—From several years experience, I can with truth declare, that there can be no better stand for a blacksmith than the one now offered to let.
